

IMPROVED STORAGE CONTAINER FOR GASEOUS FUELS

Abstract of the Disclosure

A container for storing hydrogen comprises an outer shell having an inlet for inputting hydrogen gas and an outlet for outputting hydrogen gas. A thermally conductive liner lines an interior of the outer shell. An inner hydride core is in communication with the inlet and the outlet for storing the hydrogen gas.